Language Italian (native language), English (B2 level, First certificate)

I am a young researcher, eager for challenging opportunities and new collaborations worldwide. As a PhD student I am specializing on mathematical aspects of quantum field theory and how they can be applied to completely different fields, such as singular PDEs driven by rough sources. My academic journey is teaching me how to work in a team, how to independently manage scientific tasks and the importance of teaching activities.
